During the conference 76 papers were presented by participants from 6 different countries.

EMU IS GOING TO SUPPORT THE TRAINING OF ENGLISH TEACHERS

Eastern Mediterranean University (EMU) Education Faculty, Department of Foreign Language Education, English Teaching Undergraduate Program graduate Ömer

Faruk Erdoğan visited EMU Rector Prof. Dr. Necdet Osam in his office on Friday the 14th of June 2019. During the visit that commenced at 09:30, Erdoğan presented Prof. Dr. Osam with a draft project which requested EMU's support in the training of English teachers operating under the Turkish Ministry of National Education in İstanbul.

The project aims for EMU to provide support to English teachers operating within the scope of the Turkish Ministry of National Education via in-service training. If an agreement is reached between the Ministries of both countries after EMU holds the necessary meetings with the Turkish Republic of Northern Cyprus (TRNC) Ministry of National Education and Culture a "Developing English Teaching with Modern Methods Collaboration Protocol" will be signed.

EMU ACADEMICIAN'S FILM BRINGS THE PEACE AND FRIENDSHIP AWARD TO CYPRUS

The film titled “The Two Faces of War” directed by Eastern Mediterranean University (EMU) Communication Faculty, Department of Cinema and TV senior instructor Ömer Evre received the “Peace and Friendship Award” at the 10th International Lions Short Film Competition. The short film sets-off from the joint pain of the 1974 war whilst drawing attention to friendships between Turkish Cypriots and Greek Cypriots as well as missing people. “The Two Faces of War” competed with 220 short films making the final along with 18 other films and it is based on a true story.

In a statement on the matter Ömer Evre indicated that the film aims to raise awareness regarding work relating to missing people after the 1974 war as well as to strengthen friendship bonds between the two communities. Pointing to the contributions made by his students at the EMU Communication Faculty, Department of Radio, Television and Cinema Evre advised his students to not shy away from being creative if they want to achieve success.

Feature-Length Version will also be Filmed

Evre stated that the slogan for the film is “Pain Knows No Bounds” before going on to note: “The trauma of ’74 led to joint pain amongst both communities. There are still people who don’t know what happened to their spouse, children, brothers and relatives. The generation that witnessed the war is getting older and some of those people are dying. As people cannot carry the burden of their sins they are confessing to the Committee on Missing Persons. The aim of our film is to raise awareness about the work carried out by the Committee on Missing Persons by telling a true story. This story reflects the friendships developed and maintained between Turkish Cypriots and Greek Cypriots following a confession that took place 45 years after an event. What is left behind from the pain is the saying ‘When elephants fight it is the grass that suffers.’”

Giving the good news that filming will commence for a feature-length version of “The Two Faces of War” in June 2019 Evre stated that the voluntary work of the technical crew, production crew, thespians and musicians will be of extreme value. The feature length version of the film will include big names such as artist Ayla Algan and consulting director Bilet İlhan.

EMU IS A PIONEER IN THE FIELD OF CITTASLOW CONSULTANCY

The Eastern Mediterranean University (EMU) Architecture Faculty continues to be a pioneer in Cittaslow consultancy. EMU Architecture Faculty provides consultancy services to 4 of the 5 municipalities in the Turkish Republic of Northern Cyprus that are Cittaslow members. EMU Architecture Faculty has once again proven its value after the Tatlısu Municipality has recently become a Cittaslow member. The “Cittaslow Consultancy and Reporting Service” protocol was signed between EMU and the Tatlısu Municipality in 2016. The aim of the protocol was to provide the conditions necessary for the municipality to successfully apply to be a part of the International Cittaslow movement. Within the scope of the protocol, the counselling and reporting services were provided by EMU Architecture Faculty academic staff members Prof. Dr. Uğur Ulaş Dağlı, Asst. Prof. Dr. Asu Tozan and Asst. Prof. Dr. Pınar Uluçay.

THE EMU DEPARTMENT OF INTERIOR ARCHITECTURE IS REPRESENTED IN ISTANBUL

Eastern Mediterranean University (EMU) Architecture Faculty, Department of Interior Architecture Vice Chair Asst. Prof. Dr. Kamil Güley represented EMU at the 9th Interaction and Communication Platform for National Inter-Graduate Programs (ULPIEP) that was hosted by the Istanbul Medipol University, Fine Arts, Design and Architecture Faculty, Department of Interior Architecture and Environmental Design in Istanbul as well as at the 13th Interior Architecture Department Chairs Meeting.

A number of panels and presentations on education and the field took place during the first day of the meetings. These were followed by four workshops under the headings of Accreditation, Education Programs, Academic Structure and Institutional Structure. After the workshops attended by chairs data obtained was discussed and minutes were taken.

On the second day of the meetings individuals who have made a name for themselves in the field such as Jale Kulin, Atilla Kuzu, Levent Çırpıcı and Mustafa Toner held a panel with Hasan Alpay Gülten from the Chamber of Interior Architects. The meetings came to an end with topics discussed and decisions made being summarized and put into a report.

PLATO'S THEORY ON THE RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN JUSTICE AND HAPPINESS DISCUSSED IN EMU

The Eastern Mediterranean University (EMU) Cyprus Policy Center, in collaboration with the Department of Political Science and International Affairs, organised a seminar titled "The Defense of Justice in Plato's Republic". At the beginning of the seminar, EMU Political Science and International Relations Department academic staff member Assist. Prof. Dr. Umut Bozkurt delivered an opening speech and introduced Mehmet M. Erginel, a Professor of Ancient Greek Philosophy, to the participants.

Mehmet M. Erginel completed his undergraduate studies at Duke University with a major in Economics. He received his M.A. and Ph.D in Philosophy at the University of Texas at Austin, specializing in ancient Greek philosophy. After completing his graduate studies in 2004, he returned to Cyprus, and has been working at Eastern Mediterranean University since then. Erginel's articles have appeared in the leading journals in the field, including Oxford Studies in Ancient Philosophy, The Classical Quarterly, and the British Journal for the History of Philosophy. He was a Visiting Research Fellow at Princeton University and a Visiting Scholar at the University of St Andrews. He also taught at Boğaziçi University Department of Philosophy as Visiting Faculty. Erginel's main research interests are Platonic moral psychology, Platonic epistemology, Aristotelian moral psychology and Aristotelian metaphysics. During his presentation, Erginel stated that alongside with the aforesaid subjects, the issues of education and political philosophy are also discussed in Plato's famous work 'The Republic'. Erginel also added that the common theme uniting all these views is justice. Erginel went on to state that the theory of 'a just man being happier than unjust man' is the major theme of Plato's work 'The Republic'. During his presentation, Erginel also touched upon Plato's views on despotic leaders. According to Plato, they are the most unhappy and lonely ones; such political figures have no friends; they constantly worry about who would kill them or betray them; they are afraid to interact with the people they rule without an army protecting them; and they are worried that even those who protect them could betray them at any time. According to Plato, philosophers who possess all virtues, including justice, have a harmonious spirit and philosophical pleasures are the most supreme pleasures and that's why the philosophers are happier. Erginel went on to state that Plato is defined as the first feminist as he claimed that women, as well as men, have the potential to become ideal candidates for governing or administrative positions in state.

EMU HOSTED A PANEL ON ORGAN DONATION

Eastern Mediterranean University Faculty of Health Sciences, Department of Health Management, in collaboration with the TRNC Ministry of Health, organised a panel on organ donation in the TRNC and an organ donation event.

Having taken place with the slogan “The Most Beautiful Trace You Can Leave for Life”, the event was held at Mustafa Afşin Ersoy Hall at 2:30 p.m. on Thursday, 30 May 2019. Speaking at the panel opening, EMU Health Sciences Faculty Dean Prof. Dr. Mehtap Malkoç stated that EMU Health Sciences Faculty provides support both on the educational and social dimensions. Adding that the society’s awareness regarding organ donation is at a high level, Prof. Dr. Malkoç expressed her pleasure in living in a sensitive community with social awareness. Prof. Dr. Malkoç concluded her speech by stating that their aim is to further educate the society towards this purpose and increase the society’s participation and support in organ donation.

EMU Dr. Fazıl Küçük Medicine Faculty Dean Prof. Dr. Nahide Gökçora also delivered a speech at the event and stated that the Cypriot community is well-aware of the importance of organ donation but the donations have not yet reached a desirable level. Emphasising the importance of raising awareness, Prof. Dr. Gökçora added that all levels of society have important duties in this respect.

During the panel, Dr. Burhan Nalbantoğlu State Hospital Nephrology Department Chief Assoc. Prof. Dr. Duriye Deren Oygur, EMU Health Sciences Faculty Vice Dean Assist. Prof. Dr. Gülten Sucu Dağ, EMU Dr. Fazıl Küçük Medicine Faculty academic staff member Expert Psychologist

Naife Sevdalı Zaim, and TRNC Ministry of Health Organ Transplant Coordinator Meral Yükseliş shared their experiences on the current state of organ donations in the TRNC, human cell tissue organ transplant act, brain death, experiences of patients and their relatives, psychological effects of organ donation, global problems encountered and recommendations for solutions.

Another guest of the panel was Veli Çelik, who is the first patient ever in the TRNC to have a heart transplant. Veli Çelik spoke about his illness and things he encountered during the organ transplant process. At the end of the panel which is the first organization of its kind in the TRNC, TRNC Ministry of Health Officials also received registrations for organ donations.

EMU ELEMENTARY EDUCATION DEPARTMENT ORGANISED EARLY CHILDHOOD EDUCATION DAYS

Eastern Mediterranean University (EMU) Education Faculty, Elementary Education Department hosted a series of activities under the theme “Early Childhood Education”. The two-day activities aimed to celebrate the joy of the graduation of 103 students at the end of the 2018-2019 Academic Year Spring Semester and, at the same time, raise public awareness on the importance of Elementary Education.

The organization started with the poster presentations of the 4th year students of the Preschool Teacher Education Department, all of which were prepared in scope of the scientific research project course, and continued with a panel titled “Career Journey: From Teacher to Teacher.” The opening address of the panel was delivered by EMU Elementary Education Department Chair Assoc. Prof. Dr. Eda Yazgın, who stated their happiness in exhibiting the outcomes of the courses offered to students throughout the year. Assoc. Prof. Dr. Eda Yazgın also expressed her pleasure in their department’s creating “interactive” meeting opportunities in cooperation with universities, schools and communities. At the end of her address, Assoc. Prof. Dr. Eda Yazgın gave messages to all graduands regarding professional qualifications. During the panel which took place under the moderatorship of academic staff members Prof. Dr. Ayşe Işık Gürşimşek and Dr. Begüm Çubukçuoğlu Devran, EMU graduates Expert Seher İşler, Research Assistant Cansu Dursun and Research Assistant Elif Esra Özenç delivered speeches. Early Childhood Education Days continued with the presentation of educational materials, mini musical performances, and drama installations. On the second day of the organisation, teacher candidates practiced their skills with the students of Lucky Duck nursery school. In this way, designed materials and presentations were piloted interactively on preschool children who were the target audience.

The high level participation of academic staff members, students studying at the department, preschool children and teachers in the two-day activities created satisfaction as all activities worked towards the fulfillment of the department’s mission to raise awareness on the importance of Elementary Education.

EMU DR. FAZIL KÜÇÜK FACULTY OF MEDICINE DELIVERS SLEEP APNEA EDUCATION AT FAMAGUSTA STATE HOSPITAL

The Eastern Mediterranean University (EMU) Dr. Fazıl Küçük Faculty of Medicine delivered a conference on “Sleep Apnea” aimed towards Famagusta State Hospital personnel. The said conference was attended by EMU Dr. Fazıl Küçük Faculty of Medicine Dean Prof. Dr. Nahide Gökçora. The conference was delivered by Marmara University Faculty of Medicine, Internal Medicine Department and EMU Dr. Fazıl Küçük Faculty of Medicine academic staff member Prof. Dr. Sait Karakurt who indicated that sleep apnea is an important public health problem that can be seen in 5 out of 100 people. Prof. Dr. Karakurt also indicated that sleep apnea cases become more common later in life. Defining people who suffer from sleep apnea as people whose breathing stops for at least 10 seconds during deep sleep or REM sleep, Prof. Dr. Karakurt indicated that waking up in the morning tired and being prone to sleep throughout the day are important components of the syndrome.

“You will solve a very important problem”

Relaying fundamental information about the disease, Prof. Dr. Karakurt emphasized that doctors need to establish polyclinics and carry out work in relation to these problems. Stating that they have set-up a six bed sleep apnea unit at the Marmara University Hospital Prof. Dr. Karakurt highlighted that they are trying to increase the number of beds to twelve because of the great interest that currently leads to only being able to give appointments to patients for one year in the future. Prof. Dr. Karakurt went on to state: “When you establish the polyclinic your work load will significantly increase however you will be solving a very important public health problem.”

Extensive Information was Provided

Underlining that it is currently compulsory for bus drivers in Turkey to take a sleep test, Prof. Dr. Karakurt stated that people suffering from sleep apnea primarily fall asleep during passive situations such as when sitting down or when at the cinema before stating that they can later fall asleep during more active situations such as when at work or when walking. Prof. Dr. Karakurt highlighted that this is very risky for people with jobs that include the usage of sharp objects or people working in public transport. Prof. Dr. Karakurt continued to provide information about the general structure of sleep. Emphasizing that the time at which respiratory function tests are carried out can lead to very different results Prof. Dr. Karakurt touched upon what needs to be done during the diagnosis period and the characteristics of equipment used in tests. At the end of the fruitful conference, Prof. Dr. Karakurt answered questions that were directed to him on sleep apnea by Famagusta State Hospital personnel.

7TH EMU TOURISM FACULTY EDUCATIONAL AND CULTURAL TRIP

The annual Eastern Mediterranean University (EMU) Tourism Faculty educational and cultural trip took place for the seventh time. This year's destinations were Ankara, Beypazarı and Eskişehir. The trip coordinated by Asst. Prof. Dr. Nazenin Ruso and senior instructor Turan Değirmencioğlu was attended by 36 students from the TRNC, Turkey, Kazakhstan, Iran and Nigeria

On the first day of the trip the students visited the historical and cultural Hamamönü houses and Anıtkabir in Ankara. The students had the chance to view and record the soldiers' changing of guard. Later during the day, the students visited Atatürk's House and in the evening they obtained the opportunity to stroll through the Tunalı Hilmi Avenue. On the second day of the trip, the students received "Barista Education" as a result of the organization of EMU Tourism Faculty, Department of Gastronomy and Culinary Arts master chef and Ankara Chef Academy Founding Director Ali Açıkgül.

As part of this education students visited the Academy where they tasted and familiarized themselves with different types of coffee. After this, the group visited Ankara Castle and Rahmi Koç Museum. On day three the group travelled to Beypazarı where they were met by Culture Department Director Zafer Poyraz. Along with Poyraz, the group firstly went to the Beypazarı natural mineral springs where they attended a presentation about its architecture and the production of mineral water. Next, they visited Ankara University Vocational School of Beypazarı where they exchanged information about the program and practices with the school director and teachers. The students then travelled to the center of Beypazarı with Zafer Poyraz where they visited workshops and asked questions to chefs about its famous 80 layered Baklava, Beypazarı Kurusu, bread and casserole.

Day four of the trip included the visit to Eskişehir. Here EMU Tourism Faculty students visited the Wax Museum, Odunpazarı Houses, Atılhan Handicraft Bazaar, Kurşunlu Mosque and Complex, Devrim car, Kentpark, Şelalepark and Porsuk River. On the final day of the trip, the group visited the Sazova Science Park, one of Eskişehir's most famous parks. Therefore the students obtained the opportunity to view important cultural monuments and taste different flavors throughout the trip.

GÜLSİN ONAY PIANO FESTIVAL TO BE HELD ON 4-5-6 JULY 2019

The first Gülsin Onay Piano Festival will be taking place on the 4th, 5th and 6th of July 2019 as a result of a collaboration between the Famagusta Municipality, Eastern Mediterranean University (EMU) and the Cyprus Polyphonic Choirs Association. The Piano Festival will be taking place for the first time at the TRNC at Rauf Raif Culture and Congress Center in Famagusta. The festival aims to contribute to Famagusta and the country's culture, introduce amateur pianists at all ages by allowing them to take to the stage and show what they have been working on, provide contributions to pianists by allowing them to develop their repertoires as a result of listening to other pianists and have their academic education and artistic traits be evaluated. Cypriot pianists Esra Poyrazoğlu Alpan and Arman Ratip will be delivering concerts at the festival that will also feature piano workshops and seminars.

The opening concert of the festival that will feature many piano instructors will be delivered by famous Turkish pianist Gülsin Onay. The festival in memory of Cypriot piano instructor Jale Derviş is being organized by Cyprus Polyphonic Choirs Association chorists, choir chef Erkan Dağlı, Rana Uluçay and their executive board member Esra Uluçaylı.

The festival is expected to provide significant contributions to piano education in the TRNC. Participants can obtain information about the festival from the website www.gulsinonaypiyanofestivali.com and e-mails regarding applications can be sent to the address piyanofestotello@gmail.com.
